

Update from Georgia Water Network

GWN Invites You to a Seminar Presentation on Environmental Policy and Research

By Jack Dozier (GAWP)

The presentation will provide an overview of the environmental policy and how it relates to the environmental research. UGA/AWRA students' chapter will host a happy hour followed by the presentation.

When:

5:00 p.m.

Friday, March 25th

Where:

UGA/AWRA Students' Chapter

UGA Campus

Athens, GA

This event will be the first collaborative event between GWN and UGA/AWRA students' chapter.

For directions and further details please contact:

Ashley Simeone

asimeone@gawp.org

(770-618-8690 x *818) before 4:00 p.m. on Monday, March 24th.

Upcoming Event:

GWN Committee Meeting

When: 7:30 a.m. on April 3rd;

Where: Brown and Caldwell, 990 Hammond Drive, Suite 400, Atlanta, GA 30328

The Georgia Water Network (GWN) is the young members connection for the Georgia Association of Water Professionals (GAWP). The network is intended for young people in the industry to connect with each other while attending fun and educational events. Please contact Anup Shah (ashah@brwncald.com) if you would like more information about this group or if you would like to be removed from the distribution email list.

Past Event Update

UGA South Campus Career Fair

- Event was held on Wednesday, March 5th at the UGA Campus in Athens, GA.
- More than 300 students attended this event.
- Ashley Simeone (GAWP) and Anup Shah (BC) volunteered at the GAWP booth to represent GAWP and recruit student members for the GWN.

Lunch Time Presentation Seminar

- Andrew Patceg (2nd from the right in the top row) presented a lunchtime seminar on the “Breach Modeling and Inundation Maps for High Hazard Structures in South Florida” at the GAWP office on March 7th. Presentation went over the flood modeling for Lake Okeechobee and flooding hazards.

GWN Happy Hour

GWN held its first Happy Hour of the year at Taco Mac – Perimeter location on March 20th. Happy hours present excellent opportunities for young professionals to network in a casual setting after work. GWN is planning to host more happy hours in the upcoming months so stay tuned!